Noone Rides Shields' Horse in the Long Race.

BANKER OUTRUN IN STRETCH

Great Crowd at Benning to See a Card of Races Run Off-Colt's Horses Capture Both Steeplechases and One Race on the Flat-Brigh Boy Is Set Back Once More.

Benning races drew one of the largest crowds yesterday that ever patronized the local "king of sports." Aithough no official attendance figures were given out, those who have been regulars at the course for years yesterday encountered a throng that compared favorably with any previous holiday crowd. Society seemed to have waited for Thanksgiving Day, for the outpouring of the smart set was far the greatest of the season, and the clubhouse and lawn were thronged with handsomely gowned women, and all showed the keenest interest in the sport. It was an uncomfortable day for the layer of the season in the layer of the l Benning races drew one of the largest an uncomfortable day for the layer of odds and the player. In every part of the inclosure there was a jam, and the grandstand was well filled with persons who merely came as spectators and did not care for the betting end of the game. After running a mile and three-quarters in The Dixie Wednesday, which he won rather easily, Willie Shields' Holscher came back yesterday and captured the Washington Cup race at two miles and a quarter. Although Holscher was especially pointed for the three long races at Benning, all being carded to be run during the last half of the week, few expected to see the Shields colors carried yesterday in the Washington Cup race. It was thought that after going the long route on Wednesday Holscher would be Vale, Cederstrome. rested for the Maximum, the three-mile event to be run to-morrow, but Holscher was in splendid condition yesterday morning when he was brought out for his morning exercise, and Mr. Shields decided that his entry shoud remain on the card. Banker a Slight Favorite.

Holscher the second choice. There was a pile of money wagered on the pair, for it was considered a two-horse race, although the price on the six other candidates was cut.

When the party was sent away on its long journey Jockey Johnson permitted Tavennes to run far out in front, but after going a mile and a half he was all in. Noone plodded along with Holscher, but always kept him where he wanted the real test of distance running came in. run his company and was only galloping at the end.

Jockey Noone came in for a large share of honors in this race, as he has never ridden over such a long route, and showed admirable horsemanship throughout. Shields had confidence in the lad, and Noone made good to his employer. Noone is the son of Frank Noone, employed in the Government Printing Office, and many of the supporters of Holscher came from "the Swamp." Noone rode Stolen Moments in the first race, which

Good Day for Colt Stable.

J. W. Colt's stable turned out three winners. The first was Rose of Dawn, in the opening event, and was third in the beiling. Mr. Colt's Commodore Fon- In taine and Pioneer won the steeplechases. Commodore Fontaine was favorite in the Junior Steeplechase at even money, and Pioneer went to the post an equal choice. with Courtland Smith's Oleroso in the other jumping race. Had Pioneer accomplished the other day what was exrected of him, he undoubtedly would have been an odds-on favorite, but in his he could return him a winner on Monday. Coolorahatchie made most of the running through the infield, with several keeping him close company. Pioneer did not seem to have much foot on the turf, but after he got on the stretch he closed up fast. He was hard ridden to beat both Capt. Hayes and Oleroso.

Commedore Fontaine had only Palm to beat in the Junior Steeplechase, at two and a half miles, but he accomplish-

For the second time in two days Bright Boy was disqualified. Wednesday he carried two horses out on the stretch and after finishing second was set back by the stewards. Yesterday Orphan Lad caught the leader and again Bright Boy bumped the contender and prevented Orphan Lad winning the race. He looked to be easily the class of the race and would have gone home alone but for the

Dolly Spanker Defeated.

Dolly Spanker was the only odd-or favorite on the afternoon's card, and his half mil defeat came as a shock to his large numby Miller would return him a winner, but Miller rode no better than any apprentice boy might be expected to. He rated his mount half the way, but when he went after his company on the far turn Dolly Spanker was carried to the outside and lost enough ground to defeat him. Nootter took the shortest route with Solon Shingle and collared Watergrass near whipped." Then, becoming confidential with the little body of newspaper men that gathered near him, Terry said, "I have two months before the fight, and by that time I'll be in top-notch condition. Sam Harris, the squarest and gamest sport in the world, is behind me in this bout, as he was when I whipped Dixon and the rest of them. I want my friends to bet on me in January, and that's more than I advised them to do since my first fight with Corbett. If I don't win, me to the shelf for good and all. I am tired of the title of has-been, and I am sure that either Corbett or myself could trim half a hundred of the top-notchers of to-day You fellows can take it from me that am out to win in this next fight, and after that-well, that old belt for mine." McGovern arrived in Washington on Wednesday to see his horse Carmagnole run at Benning and to take a last fling at the ponies before he begins his active training for his fight with Corbett.
